Open Source Summit 2016

Freedom To Connect

First time in Dubai!

27th January 2016

The future of OPEN SOURCE lies in the hands of those who create and use it.

A successful open source community consists of enthusiasts and members, where each participant can tap into the skills of others within the network, while contributing their own skills into the mix. We believe, open source is a big step towards economic interactions, based on trusting relationships, a model which can create valuable results for everyone involved.

Open Source Technologies are currently being used in Business, IT infrastructure, Development, Security, Cloud, Analytics, Telecommunications, Airlines, Medicine, Education, e-Commerce, Defense, Multimedia, Science, Banking, Hospitality, Government and in many more areas, across the World.

Objectives of Open Source Summit 2016.

- Establish a platform for Mature Open Source projects and programs to be highlighted and showcased.
- Make aware of the benefits and how Open Source is presently being extensively used in various industry sectors.
- Engage the community to collaborate and network to bring about an Open Source Revolution within the region.
- Step into education and academics sector, with career grade training, towards professional opportunities.
- Form an Open Source Summit expert committee, for consulting and propagating Open Source, within the MENA region.

What is Open Source?

The term "Open Source" refers to a concept, where we are free to create, collaborate, modify and use existing information and bring together diverse ideas, which will in turn benefit the community that is formed around a common purpose. A concept driven by "Together we can do MORE".

Why Open Source?

- Cost Effective.
- Reliable, Stabile, Customizable and Scalable.
- Easier Interoperability.
- Freedom to Create, Modify and Use
- Support from Global Communities worldwide.
